ALABAMA COLLEGE

MONTEVALLO, ALABAMA

MONTAGE 62/63

Welcome to the MONTAGE 62/63. Our theme this year is Pathways, the tangible and intangible pathways of Alabama College. We want you to walk them vicariously as you read the MONTAGE. We feel it will be a rewarding experience for you, an entertaining and educational one. You should enjoy reading the CLASSES section, for instance, looking for students you know, and the ACTIVITIES section, for another instance, acquainting yourself with the social life at Alabama College, and the FEATURES section, for still another instance, perhaps admiring our Beauties or enjoying our Favorites. You should learn something about the more serious aspects of Alabama College: the DEPARTMENTS, the ADMINISTRATION. And we especially want you to meet Dr. Maxine C. Davis, a very special lady we think, to whom the MONTAGE 62/63 is dedicated and Dr. Howard M. Phillips, Sr., the competent and friendly president of Alabama College, whom we especially thank and honor this year for having guided the college to recognized standards of academic excellence.

Read on. Vicariously walk the pathways of Alabama College. And when you have finished, if you want to go out and actually walk them, the MONTAGE 62/63, has succeeded.

DEDICATION/Dr. Maxine Couch Davis

With pride and appreciation we, the Senior Class of Alabama College, dedicate the MONTAGE 62/63 to Dr. Maxine Couch Davis, a greatly respected educator and friend who serves the college and her students with selfless devotion.

An alumna of Alabama College, Dr. Davis returned to her Alma Mater in 1940 to assume a position on the faculty and has taught here since that time except for the years during the World War II at which time she served with the Women's Army Corps overseas.

Dr. Davis is not only an inspiring teacher, but a woman endowed with the qualities of understanding and sincere interest in her associates which earn for her a place of high regard and affection. Too often a well spent life passes without acknowledgement; it is our hope that this dedication expresses our admiration and appreciation to Dr. Maxine Couch Davis.

IN MEMORIAM/ Dr. Ethel Marshall

Dr. Ethel Marshall, professor of history at Alabama College, died Friday, September 28, 1962. She had been ill since August 13, 1962 when she suffered a heart attack.

A native of Birmingham, a graduate of Phillips High School and Birmingham-Southern, she received her master's from the University of Alabama and her Ph.D. in Latin American history at the University of Florida.

At Alabama College since 1945, she was for several years the director of the College's Resource-Use Workshop. She was the recipient of many awards and honors, including "Alabama Conservationist" of the Year 1948, and the University of Florida Graduate School Medal.

Miss Marshall was an inspiring teacher and gave herself unsparingly to her students. The faculty, her students, fellow-church members and co-workers in many fields will miss her grievously.

We students entered Alabama College on a pathway—one which will not end with graduation but will continue before us as long as we live. This pathway is the pathway to knowledge.

The Administration plays an important role in our college life by getting us started on the pathway and by helping us keep a straight course. It establishes the foundation of aur pathway to knowledge. It creates and establishes departments and decides exactly what kind of courses should be offered in each major field of the liberal arts college. The Administration is also responsible for the well-being of each student.

Each Administrative Office has its own specific responsibility, and each makes an important contribution to our advancement toward knowledge. From the day we enter Alabama College until the day we graduate one of these offices is at work providing for our needs. We are admitted and registered as students by them. The administrative officers dealing with finances, public relations, and operations are responsible for keeping us and others informed of college activities and conditions. They keep our pathways clear of obstacles which would slow our advancement. Other administrative officers are responsible for our personal needs—food, shelter, health services, guidance—which give us the necessary strength to continue our quest for knowledge. The Administrative Officers also authorize the social activities on the campus and administer the rules and regulations we follow in our social and academic lives.

Through extra service and personal interest in each individual, the Administration encourages us to study and seek success as we follow this pathway.

ADMINISTRATION

DR. HOWARD M. PHILLIPS, SR.
President of Alabama College

President

In 1957 Dr. Howard M. Phillips, Sr., was appointed to the president's chair at Alabama College. Since that time this man, whose unassuming yet forceful personality has restored a college which was foundering under a number of severe problems to a place of respect among the institutions of higher learning in the state, in the South, and in the nation, has filled his appointment with success. Dr. Phillips, who is accorded much esteem as a scholar and educator, has proven himself in addition a capable administrator.

He is a man of great stature who does not have to announce his own importance; his works are just evidence of his ability. He walks with men who are tall because he is tall. At the same time he puts those of lesser rank at ease.

With pride in his accomplishments we applaud him; with regret for our loss we accept his leaving. Surely Dr. Phillips' chair will not easily be filled by one as competent as he.

Alabama College as a liberal arts college endeavors to have us students follow the pathway to a well-rounded education capable of helping us to understand and appreciate the past, predict the future, and tolerate the present. It is the responsibility of the various Departments to provide the courses and instruction which are necessary for advancement toward our destination—knowledge.

The Departments make possible the fulfillment of the requirements necessary to receive one of the undergraduate degrees granted, the Bachelor of Arts, the Bachelor of Science, the Bachelor of Music Education, the Bachelor of Music, or the graduate degree of Master of Arts in Teaching. The Departments also provide courses for the special preparation we need to prepare us for a business or professional career.

In addition to providing these courses and the needed instruction, the Departments sponsor activities outside the classroom, creating more opportunities for us to advance in knowledge. They sponsor such activities as concerts, lectures, art exhibits, educational films, and organizations which allow for greater student participation in college life. Through these various activities, the Departments encourage the development of our creative abilities and other talents, and also stimulate within us a greater awareness of our responsibility as citizens and future leaders.

Chosen by the students as representatives of the true spirit of Alabama College, Mr. and Miss Alabama College usher us onto the pathway of the students featured by the MONTAGE 62/63 for outstanding ability, personality, and personal appeal.

What can be said of beauty which speaks so well for itself? We only wish that every pathway were as delightfully adorned as our selected Beauties have adorned this one.

Along with the spirit and beauty which Elite Night annually affords, students which excel in scholarship, leadership, and contributions to the college are recognized for their achievements. The Elite and those chosen to Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities are the outstanding students of each graduating class.

Friendly smiles and attractive personalities brighten the day and give our college its reputation for friendliness. Our Favorites have won the admiration of all Alabama College students.

Pathways of culture enhance our education. Incomparable concerts and lectures add worthwhile variety to campus life.

The curtain rises and the College Theatre, as usual, renders a production with precision and skill. We are proud of our College Theatre and the enjoyment it adds to the college experience.

Homecoming, Purple cows, Gold in abundance—Alabama College students have joined in the annual College Night activities. Pathways to new friendships and much fun open to all who participate.

Among the most frequently trod pathways at Alabama College are those leading to campus activities. Significant not only to the development of the student but the college as well, these activities provide an opportunity for personal growth, recognition, service, and pleasure.

Many of the activities of Alabama College are interest groups or organizations existing for the purpose of extra-curricular development in some particular subject or area. There are honorary groups which bestow the honor of membership to the student because of academic achievement. Still other organizations are governmental composed of students elected to serve in them by the student vote.

These various activities are constructive in that they prepare us, as college students, to follow the paths that lead away from Alabama College onto the avenues of life.

All students of Alabama College are classified according to the progress they have made on the pathway, the college, in effect, to wisdom and knowledge. The class denominations are in a real sense milestones: a year-end freshman has walked one mile; a year-end sophomore, two, and so on. The pathway has its effect. Turn to the freshman section and look into their eyes. Notice the naivete and the here-we-come-world verve. Then turn to the senior section and look into their eyes. You will see the signs of having walked the pathway; you will see a certain amount of wisdom, knowledge, maturity.

So read the MONTAGE 62/63 Classes section. It provides a little recognition for those who are beginning to walk the pathway, those who are walking it and those who have finished.

SNAPSHOTS

Mmmm; that Mozart really moves me.

And we wondered how 'dorms' were built so cheaply.

You told it, Ray; don't you like it?

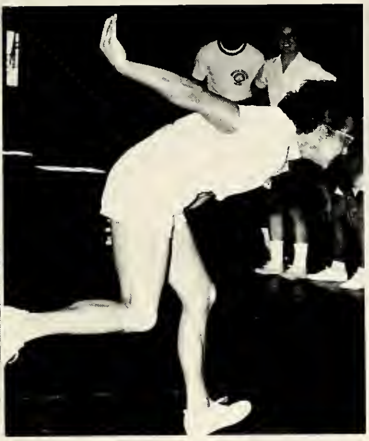
Anyone else think you are tough enough to lick me?

We were warned about the monsoon season.

Forgotten where you hid it, fellah?

This semester I am taking Personal Grooming 101.

Dr. Mount's field trips are so exciting.



The 'Discus Thrower'—in tennis shoes?

When Ah itches; Ah scratches.

Don't grin, buddy, the Dean is waiting.

Not every professor writes on the ceiling!

Tell me, how does Charcoal feel about the Common Market?

Doesn't look like a Paramecium to me, bud.
